The Association of American Directory Publishers is composed of reputable City Directory Publishers, organized for the general advancement of the Directory business. Any person, corporation or firm engaged in business as owner and Publisher of a City Directory in the United States or Canada, who shall qualify as competent to gather information and compile a City Directory and furnish satisfactory references, is eligible to membership.

The objects of the Association are:

First. The advancement of the Directory business and the improvement of Directories by the interchange of ideas and the exchange of experienced employes.

Second. To provide protection to the public against fraudulent advertising schemes which operate under the name of Directories, and to drive unprincipled promoters of the same out of the business.

Third. To provide permanent and profitable employment to competent, industrious and honest Directory canvassers and compilers.

Fourth. For the mutual protection and advancement of the established and prospective interests of all who may become members, by personal advice and assistance of members as may be mutually satisfactory, desirable or advisable, and by such other means as may, from time to time, be shown to be wise, proper and lawful.

$100.00 Reward Will be paid by the Association for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons engaged in publishing, collecting or canvassing for any fraudulent or fake directory

THE CITY DIRECTORY

Is where people look for you when they want to do business. You should make it easy for them to find you, by putting such information as a buyer wants, in the Directory properly indexed under all headings where he might look for you.

Do you realize that a City Directory advertisement is a testimonial to the permanency, the stability, of the advertiser?

That's the sort of concern all of us want to patronize, because we know when they sell us merchandise they are behind it in every way, today, tomorrow, and for the years to come.

"Fly-by-night," "fire-sale" and other temporary or "get-rich-quick" concerns rarely appear in the City Directory.

And it is a noteworthy fact that the concerns which advertise one year in the city directory are there again next year. 90% of directory advertising is renewed.

Directory advertising, is profitable. In connection with the classified business headings it is doubly effective.

May we explain how and why it will pay you?

INTRODUCTORY

1358788

We take pleasure in the fact that the number of names listed in this directory shows a large increase over those in our directory of 1913.

The increase in the number of names of course signifies a proportionate increase in the population of Indianapolis.

There are 110,102 names listed in this volume, a gain of 3,328 as compared with the volume of 1913.

It has been demonstrated that a fair and conservative estimate of the population is formed by multiplying the number of names so listed by 2½.

By following this method it is shown that the estimated population of Indianapolis is 275,255.

And this is a gain of 8,320 as compared with the estimate of the preceding year.

Care is taken, in ascertaining the number of names listed, to avoid duplication.

In connection with the figures as to the population it should be borne in mind that Indianapolis by reason of its many conventions has, in addition to this fixed population, a large transient population during the greater part of the year.

It is not alone in population that Indianapolis has gone forward in the past year. The new buildings that have been erected; the new business enterprises that have been established; the commercial and industrial prosperity evident; the many improvements along various lines that have been effected—all these tend to show the progress that the city has made.

And it has been progress of a substantial kind—not due to any campaign of expansion, but because of the many advantages, natural and acquired, that Indianapolis enjoys.

The contents of this volume include a carefully collected and compiled alphabetical list of citizens, industrial and commercial enterprises; federal, state, county and city officials; churches; schools; office buildings and apartment houses; the various literary, patriotic, fraternal, benevolent and other organizations; a classified business directory, and a complete readily understood householders' directory and street guide, which points out the street car line that will take one nearest to any address in the city, and designates each householder in numerical order.

This new feature has been included in the directory at a great expense and we trust it will give the satisfaction desired.

At our offices, 320-324, 8 East Market street, we maintain a directory library containing current copies of directories of all the larger and many of the smaller cities.

This library is for the use of our patrons, and we are pleased to have them avail themselves of it, as well as any other service at our command, at any time.

INDIANAPOLIS

Distinctions Which Give the City Supremacy as a Modern Progressive American Community, Furnished and Compiled by the

Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce

Indianapolis is forty miles from the center of population of the United States.

It is in the geographical center of manufacturing of the United States.

It is in population, transportation facilities and volume of business transacted the largest inland city, not on a navigable stream, in the United States.

It has a population of 275,255, with more than 2,000,000 people living within two hours' ride of the city.

It is the capital of Indiana and in the geographical center of the state, with railroad or electric railway connections with every county in the state.

It has an area of 36 square miles.

It is the seat of the following state institutions: Indiana State Fair, Indiana School for the Blind, Indiana School for the Deaf, School of Medicine of Indiana University, the Indiana Girls' School, the Indiana Woman's Prison, the Central Hospital for the Insane.

It has more than 1,200 factories, with 33,000 skilled mechanics employed.

It has twenty-six parks, nearly all public, with 3,000 acres.

It has seventeen steam railroads, connecting directly with all the great cities of the Central West, and also with Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

It has thirteen electric interurban systems, made up of six lines, which in 1913 carried 6,524,366 passengers to and from the city, an average of 17,875 a day, 676 passenger cars being handled each day in the largest and most pretentious interurban station in the United States. Freight cars to the number of 23,501 were also handled by this station.

It has three direct steam roads to the coal fields of Indiana.

It has two steam roads direct to the stone quarries of southern Indiana.

In the output of automobiles it is the second city of America.

It has the greatest motor speedway in the world. The largest paid admission to any sporting event in the history of the world was at the Speedway in 1913.

It has one of the best mile tracks for the training and racing of trotting and pacing horses in America.

The total bank and trust company deposits in 1913 amounted to $65,296,658.01. The total resources of these concerns and of the building and savings associations for the year were $105,033,288.00.

The post office receipts last year amounted to $1,475,671.71.

The city has 200 wholesale and jobbing houses, representing all lines of trade, with a market extending well over the Central West.

Indianapolis importations last year amounted to $750,000.

It has 231 miles of permanently improved streets.

It has 168 miles of city electric car lines, operating over double tracks, with four-cent fare and universal transfers.

The total assessed valuation of Indianapolis property is $234,412,800.

The municipal bonded indebtedness is only $3,403,300.

The total tax rate for state, county, city, school and all other purposes is only $2.36 on each $100.00.

There were 5,586 births and 4,207 deaths in 1913.

Its building permits in 1913 amounted to $9,361,973.

Its real estate transfers in 1913 amounted to $25,000,000.

It has 332 miles of sewers.

It has 370 miles of water mains, using 23,000,000 gallons every day. The water supply is abundant and pure. No other city surpasses Indianapolis in the excellence of its water for both domestic and commercial purposes.

It has artificial gas at 55 cents a thousand feet, the scale decreasing to 40 cents for the large consumers. Indianapolis' cheap fuel is world-famous.

It has an unrivaled street lighting system.

It has 47,000 telephones, with long distance connections with city, town, and farm throughout the State.

It has one of the most beautiful and best appointed post office buildings in the United States, erected at a cost of $2,000,000.

It has the largest and most inspiring Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument in the world.

It has twenty-five modern office buildings, six to sixteen stories high, and more under construction.

It has a Y. M. C. A. building which the public erected at a cost of $250,000; a Y. W. C. A. building, which the public provided at a cost of $140,000, and recently completed a colored Y. M. C. A. building at a cost of $100,000.

It has 68 public and high school buildings, valued at $4,500,000.

In the John Herron Art Institute, the city has one of the noted art museums of the United States.

In Fort Benjamin Harrison it has one of the largest United States army posts in the country.

It has 63 hotels, which afford living on any scale desired for conventions of any size.

It has exceptional facilities for national conventions and entertains several hundred thousand visitors every year.

It has one of the largest city market houses of the Middle West, which supplies the city with the best products of the country.

It is a city made up largely of home owners, many thousand families occupying their own property.

It is abundantly supplied with apartment houses, large and pretentious.

It is pre-eminently an industrial city because of its geographical location in relation to the general market, because of its exceptional shipping facilities, abundance of labor, the excellence of its labor conditions and the nearness of the fuel supply. Coal from the Indiana field is delivered to power plants at about $1.25 a ton.

It has several very large industrial buildings for small manufacturing concerns, which supply space, power and other facilities at reasonable cost.

It has a public library with immeasurable resources, with numerous branches over the city. The reference library in the Indiana State House is one of the largest and best organized to be found in any American commonwealth.

It is bountifully supplied with schools of music, art, for commercial training, and in medicine and dentistry.

It has in the Normal School of the North American Gymnastic Union one of the great training schools for physical directors.

It is generously supplied with pretentious club houses, gymnasiums, theaters, roof gardens.

It supports a public orchestra, numerous musical organizations and societies which are active in the cultural development of the people.

All in all, Indianapolis is in the fore rank as a delightful American city in which to live, for the spirit of its citizenship is always striving for the general advancement of the community, of the people, and of all civic and commercial interests.

At the Indianapolis stockyards in 1913 more than $50,000,000 worth of live stock was handled.

Indianapolis is the largest producer of hominy in America, only one other city being able to approach its record for this product.

The city is the greatest center for the manufacture of quartered oak veneer in the country.
